CITIZENS TAKE A HAND

Have Organized to Force Strikers to Take Their Grievance Before
an Arbitration Committee.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 8.—Today opened with the strike conditions practically unchanged. A united move was started today by the businessmen to induce both sides to submit their dispute to arbitration.

Places Vacant
The employers who then violated their working agreements have served notices on such employees as are out on a sympathetic strike to return to work at once or hereafter they will conduct their business on the "open shop" plan.

A Great Blow
If this last is carried out it will mean a great blow to organized labor and will also further complicate matters in the city. The unions have apparently broken all the existing agreements with the manufacturers and by so doing will have only themselves to thank for the results.

FIGHT TO CONTROL
PITTSBURG COAL CO.Outcome Of Annual Meeting In Jersey City Awaited With Interest In Financial Circles.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

New York, March 8.—Financial circles are awaiting with considerable interest the result of the annual meeting of the Pittsburgh Coal Company in session in Jersey City today. For nearly a year a fierce fight has been going on for the control of the great corporation. A strong syndicate was organized by Pittsburgh and New York financiers with the object of buying control of the company. Within a few months the syndicate threw no less than $10,000,000 into the enterprise.

When the officers of the company became aware of the plans of the syndicate they entered the battle with all the business ability they could command. The officers promptly declared a dividend of 1 1/2 per cent, which has since been paid. This effectively stopped the buying of stock for control and is believed that the annual meeting will result in a victory for the officers of the company and the final end of the syndicate.

TO REVEAL SECRETS OF MAYBRAY GANGTrial At Council Bluffs Is Expected To Bring To Light Whole Inside Story
Of Swindle Syndicate.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Council Bluffs, Ia., March 8.—According to reports now in circulation the trial of John C. Maybray in the United States district court here will bring to light the whole inside story of the alleged "swindle syndicate" and lay bare to the world the inner workings of a conspiracy by which more than a hundred victims were fleeced out of a total sum of money estimated at nearly $1,000,000. The jury for the trial has already been drawn and the case is set to begin day after tomorrow.

It is said that several men who acted as "steerers" for the alleged swindle syndicate and who were among the eighty-four indicted by last fall, will turn State's evidence at the trial and reveal the methods of the gang. Maybray and his alleged associates were indicted on the charge of conspiring to defraud through the use of the United States mails in the promotion of fake horse races and the swindling of victims in eighteen States, the territory of Alaska, and the Dominion of Canada. The indictment, indicating the wide range of territory over which the members of the gang are alleged to have plied their vocation. The sums lost by the victims varied from $1,000 to $20,000. The latter sum having been placed on a fake horse race. It is said, by a Missouri banker.

As a basis of operation, the gang used, according to the indictment, the cities of Burlington, Davenport, Council Bluffs, Iowa; St. Louis, Seattle, Denver, Little Rock, and New Orleans, to which places it is alleged victims were taken by the numerous "steerers." The indictment named eighty-five persons who are alleged to have been victims of the gang, most of whom live in the Western States.

It is said that the system by which the gang worked will be brought out in all its details in the trial. The evidence is stated to show how the gang first drew him in, how the gang finally got hold of him and how he was fleeced. Furthermore, it is stated, the evidence will show how the gang operated for its own protection, how the athletic contests were arranged, and, in fact, how the heads of the alleged conspiracy were able to secure a safe and alibi a large number of athletes, horsemen, wrestlers and other sporting men of more or less wide reputation together with numerous other men said to have long criminal records. Every move of the gang from its first inception until its dissolution will be brought out and testimony of a highly sensational nature will mark the case as one of the most important and far reaching criminal operations the country has ever known.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

MINERS HOLDING A
WAGE CONFERENCEDeliberations Were Resumed At Cincinnati Today With Prospect That Strike Will Be Averted.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Cincinnati, O., March 8.—The joint wage conference of the miners and operators of the central competitive field, which adjourned at Indianapolis two weeks ago after a futile effort to reach a satisfactory agreement on wages and conditions of labor for the year beginning April 1, resumed its deliberations here today with the prospect that an understanding may be reached and the threatened strike averted. The district involved in the dispute comprises Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana.

The main point in dispute is a demand by the miners for an increase in wages. President Lewis the United Mine Workers is holding out for the basic rate of $1 a ton for the miner, who now gets 90 cents. This is a demand of more than a ten per cent increase. The operators say that such an increase would be ruinous to their business. The chief controllers for the operators are the eastern Ohio men, who are fighting hard against an increase.

It now appears probable that the present conference may agree upon a compromise, which will give the miners a rate of 95 cents a ton. In addition to the demand for an increase in wages the miners also ask for a half holiday on Saturday. Whatever agreement is reached at the joint conference will be submitted for ratification to a special national convention of the United Mine Workers which has been called to meet in this city next week.

Madison, Wis., March 8.—The railroad commission today announced its decision in the case against the Madison Gas and Electric Co., cutting the gas and electric rates from 8 to 14 per cent, and reducing the companies' revenues $25,000 a year.

Many of the points of the utmost value in the public utility regulation were decided. Mysterious importance is attached to the commission's conclusion that not one dollar of the so-called "going" "development," "good will," "franchise," or other intangible value, should be allowed, as a basis for fixing rates to consumers and that rates must be based upon simply the cost to reproduce the physical plant.

Chicago and North-Western SET RECORD FOR PRESENT YEAR AT YARDS YESTERDAY

Sixteen Extras Out in Seven and a Half Hours Makes Record for 1910.

Yesterday proved to be the banner day of the present year at the new yards. Between the hours of 9:30 a. m. and 5 p. m. sixteen extras were made up and sent out. Six of these went south, seven north to Harbors, while the remaining three were on the Northern Wisconsin Division. This is a little better than two an hour and as each train will average only 1,200 tons it can be seen that an enormous amount of freight was forwarded. This hardly equals the record made last fall, but is a high mark for this year. The incoming freight almost equaled in amount that sent out. At seven this morning there were ten engines waiting at the pit to be cleaned, all of them having arrived after four o'clock.

Later, however, M. Lavalard was taken ill again and died.

FATE AND A COW.

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

Professor Slocum of the college at Madison was fifty years old on a certain date. He was tall and stoop shouldered and ungainly. He was reticent and uncommunicative, and society knew him not at all. Miss Deborah Day of the same town had reached the age of forty-five. She was plain of face and frigid of attitude, and her charms were missing. Cupid had sized up the professor and condemned him to bachelorhood. He had done the same with Miss Deborah and left her an old maid.

One evening, just at sundown, when the whippoorwill, had there been any within a radius of a hundred miles, would have been making ready to sing, Miss Day walked forth in a meadow to gather a few daisies. It was not a romantic feeling that took her there. She would have as soon called on her friends there as any there to call. At the same hour it singularly happened that Professor Slocum sought the same meadow in search of geological specimens to convince his class that this old earth of ours has seen at least 15,000,000 birthdays come and go. Four discoveries took place almost simultaneously, and a fifth came tagging on behind. The lady discovered her daisies, the professor discovered his pebbles, the two people discovered each other, and together they discovered a cow. A cow may be simply an animated object on the landscape, or she may be a discovery, because she was enraged over the loss of a horn knocked off in some way and because she had her head down and her tail up and was charging the pebbles and daisy gatherers.

Then the fifth discovery showed up. It was a cow shed twenty rods away—a rough affair that had once seen better days. The meadow was retired, and the shed was more so. There was no hope of reaching the shed, but there was of reaching the cow. It was plain that the cow was coming for business, and you must judge whether it was proper or not for the couple to clasp hands and make a vambly and tumultuous run for the shed. They reached it just in time for the professor to find a bound and bar the entrance against the cow and later on to further strengthen it. There was no doubt about the lady being in earnest. She made frantic attempts to tear down the shed with her remaining horns, and when she could not effect entrance she stood on guard to keep her victims from coming out. Darkness suddenly fell.

"Professor Slocum, I must leave here this instant!" exclaimed the horrified Miss Day.

"And so must I," was the reply.

"It is not proper."

"Certainly not."

"I shall be a laughingstock."

"And the same."

"Yes; they ought to laugh the shed and rush in opposite directions, but what of the cow?" She proposed to leave something to say about that. At the first movement of the temporary door she uttered a bloodcurdling yell and made a charge, and Miss Day screamed, and the professor threw up his hands in despair.

"I can't go, but you must," said Miss Day, as the cow quitted down. "Professor, you must see that you must go—you must see it!"

"I do see it," he replied, "and, while I cannot depart from the shed, I can climb out on top of it."

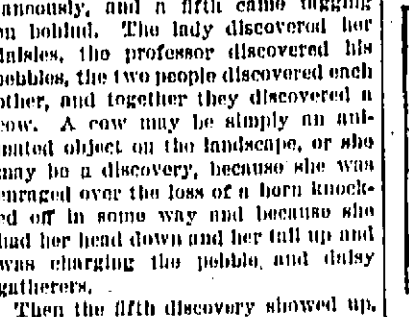

This he accomplished by making his way through a gap in the roof. He was now in a position of propriety, but there was the cow again. When she saw him perched up there, so near and yet so far, she tried to climb up after him, and at the end of two minutes Miss Day was shrieking for protection. Down scrambled the professor, and the cow took to running around the shed to find where he had gone.

Could they be so severely ceremonious when it was impossible to see each other? The professor wisely decided that they couldn't, and he reached out and clasped Miss Day's hand. She returned the clasp. Then he put his arm around her in a protecting way, and she did not shrink. Then the old cow made up her mind to melt the frost and bring out the turtles if she had to break her neck to do it. She gave a bellow of warning and retreated eight or ten rods and then came for the side of the shed like a runaway locomotive. She hit it fair and square, and two-thirds of it caved in like a house of sand. In the caving she was nixed up with beams and boards, and the professor took advantage of the occasion to tear the door aside and pull his companion out into the open. Then they ran for the nearest fence. It wasn't dignified to fall down three or four times, but they fell. It wasn't eminently proper when the fence was reached and the cow was hard on their trail for the professor to throw Miss Day over and then make a scramble himself, but that's the way it was worked. Then as soon as the man in the case could get his breath, he realized the inevitable. They were both tattered and frosted. They had together passed through peril by flood and fire (and cow), and romance had come to their hearts at last.

"Miss Day, I have loved you from the first," announced the professor as he took her hand.

"And I—!" she replied after gasping for breath.

Of course she had, too, and of course that settled it then and there. The old cow looked through the rails at them, heard the cooing of the doves and with a snort of disgust turned tail and walked away. And yet she had made over two human beings to be like the average.

Miss Mae Wood Will Fight for Late Senator's Estate.

Julesburg, Col., Mar. 8.—Declaring that she had been legally married to United States Senator Thomas Collier Platt, and that they had never been divorced, Mae C. Wood received the information that Platt was dead from a newspaper representative with the exclamation:

Pen and Paper.

"Paper," whether of rags or of wool pulp, still takes its name from the papyrus. A "book" is the beech, the wooden rod on which our forefathers cut their rude letters. And a "pen" is still by derivation "penniculus," a little tail, having been originally the name of the Roman painter's brush.

Safety from Lightning.

On the approach of a thunderstorm French peasants often make up a very smoky fire, in the belief that safety from lightning is thus assured. By some this is deemed a superstition, but the custom is based on reason, inasmuch as the smoke acts as a good conductor for carrying away the electricity.

TRAIN OUTRUNS SLIDE; ESCAPES BY TEN FEET

Canadian Pacific Passengers Are Saved from Death When Engine Wins Mountain Race.

Vancouver, B. C., Mar. 8.—Canadian Pacific passenger train No. 97, west-bound, escaped destruction in a landslide by less than ten feet after a long race with it in the Rocky mountains on Saturday. The train was stalled for several days and news of its narrow escape was received here.

While the train was descending the western slope of the Rockies the engineer heard the thunder of the avalanche booming down the mountain side. He opened the throttle, and the race between the train and the snow-slide was on. The last car had just passed a steep point when the slide struck the rails not ten feet behind covering the rails to a depth of 25 feet.

Only 20 bodies have been recovered from the debris of Saturday morning's accident on the Canadian Pacific near Rogers pass at the summit of the Rockies. Eight hundred men are clearing the track. On account of the danger of slides they work only during daylight. The rails in many places are buried to a depth of 80 feet.

No one in the path of the avalanche escaped alive. The official list of victims is placed at 61, despite a report from Winnipeg that it was 92.

BAD CONDITIONS

The eyes of the world are now turned towards Philadelphia and the conditions which resemble a civil war that exist there. The United States Government has taken notice of the trouble by ordering its regular troops to be prepared for service in protecting governmental property in the City of Brotherly Love and the Governor of Pennsylvania has notified his national guard officers to be ready for strike duty in the city when needed.

Some three weeks ago a large number of the employees of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company, which provides most of the local transportation service, left their posts, after making demands on the company which were refused.

The merits of the controversy which led to the strike are not clear to the public generally, nor is a decision as to the side to which the balance should incline of material importance to the decision.

The strike was unsuccessful in the sense that it did not leave the employer or without men willing to work its cars. There has been much rioting and destruction of property by the strikers or their sympathizers.

The strikers then appealed to members of other labor unions having no material interest in the dispute to assist them by a general strike, and thus to paralyze all local business and industry, and compel the company to grant their demands.

To what extent there has been response to this appeal is disputed. The labor union leaders assert that 125,000 men are voluntarily idle. The chief of police says the situation does not exceed 20,000.

In any event the situation is considered serious enough for the national government to plan to send troops into the city for the protection of the mint and other federal buildings.

It is hard to see how the condition that the labor unions are trying to bring about in Philadelphia differs from that of civil war. In a civil war there is a taking-up of arms and an appeal to force by large numbers of persons who have no material interest in the original controversy, but who join in the conflict out of devotion to some principle deemed at stake.

This is the situation in Philadelphia. Hence it becomes of interest to consider what is the principle at stake.

According to an exchange, "Obviously it is the principle that membership in a labor union confers such proprietary interest in a job that, even when the job is abandoned, it is to be regarded as an act in the nature of a theft for a nonunion man to take it." The common attitude of unionists toward nonunionists is that of the victim toward the thief. The logic of the labor union on this point may be stated as follows:

"If Smith go away leaving his tools on his work bench, and Jones take the tools without Smith's permission, Jones is a thief. Therefore if Smith leave his post at the work bench unattended, and Jones fill it without Smith's permission, Jones is a thief."

"It is well to recognize that this is precisely the logical principle on which rests the violent opposition of Smith and his friends to having Jones fill the post that Smith has left and do the work which Smith has refused to continue."

"And when Anderson, Brown and Robinson leave their jobs, not because of any interest of their own, but in support of the principle on which Smith opposes Jones taking the post that Smith left, we have a general strike, which it is impossible to distinguish from civil war between those who uphold the theory of Smith as to the nature of a job and those who uphold the theory of Jones—and the present legal fact—that a job 'belongs' to him who gets it."

It would be well for the people of this country to consider carefully the argument and reasoning on which the general strike rests, for within the next two years the general strike is likely to become a very practical question in many of our larger cities. It has become quite fashionable in Europe, and has now appeared in one of our eastern cities—this idea that weavers and iron-workers and men in all sorts of industries are justified in quitting work and appealing to force because street-car men or waiters or others are disputing with their employers.

It is well to think about just what this idea means, that the country may not be taken by surprise when the crisis comes; for a labor dispute over questions of money is one thing, and a general suspension of labor because there is such a dispute in some industry is quite another thing.

The latter condition is so different that it is hard to distinguish it from civil war. And if civil war is to become a condition to be reckoned with at any time, we all need to make various arrangements for reckoning with it.

MUST BE DISCOURAGED

The Chicago Tribune must be discouraged after all their work in making up a straw ballot as to how the newspapers regarded Cannon to find that down in Cannon's home district, where people know him, twenty editors meet and pass resolutions of endorsement of him. Not only that, but go further and condemn the Tribune for its action. The Tribune's Poll was like looking into a mirror and seeing their own reflection. They wanted to condemn Cannon and belittle Taft and they looked in the glass, saw their own features and believe the press of the country were with them. It is to be regretted that out of fairness they did not give as much publicity to the action of the editors of Cannon's district as they did to the editors and newspapers who circulate outside the district that will choose the congressman.

Thus far the Kaw river has not been heard from this spring and it appears to be minding its own business this year. The Ohio, however, went up, but is reported to have quieted down considerably.

The Pope has sent a message of congratulations to John D. Rockefeller over his magnificent gift to mankind. Meanwhile congress is looking for a gift in the mouth instead of accepting it.

It would seem as though Jeff Davis of Arkansas made one big bad blunder when he admitted that he would win out, no matter which way that congressional bill went.

They are having trouble, trying to make Davidson believe that he should run for the United States Senate against La Follette. They may be unable to accomplish their ends too.

What the poets say of spring is all right when Spring knows about it and acts as she should. But when it forgets that the time has come for winter to retire then the poets are wrong.

So Peary has refused to give to Congress the proofs that he actually reached the North Pole and still he wants aid financially to start for the Southern end of the world.

Three nations are now in the race for the South Pole. It is said that none of them will get cold feet either, no matter how near they get to the Pole.

If anyone does not believe that March is the blow-hard of the whole year they will have one more guess coming. It will live up to its reputation.

There is danger that the authorities in Prussia will overdo that matted fist business before they get through with it this time.

Philadelphia would like to trade its strike for a basket of eggs or a good house and lot, in act anything will go in this trade, even a broken jack-knife.

Uncle Walt

THE POET PHILOSOPHER

By WALT MASON.

(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthews Adams.)

It is woman's firm ambition to attain a high position, and she surely is a cut-throat who regrets to see her rival for one will hand her praises, lead her down with cheering phrases, if in seeking higher levels she does not neglect the plea. Let her study art and science, read up Blackstone and his clients, seek her self in Kant or Browning and the truth that in them lies; who may date on Kant or Ruddy—if she doesn't come to study worthy books and able pamphlets treating of uplifting plea. Now and then my spirit, shrinking, gets to doubting, brooding, thinking that the plea we have at present are not like the plea of yore; modern dames are good at making eras for plea, and good at baking, but they buy the stuff to fill them at the nearest grocery's store. Are our plea as good as ever? Do our modern dames endeavor to produce the pie triumphant, plea that make us better men? If they do, then who would chide them, who would blame them or deride them, if they turn from plea and cookies to their Ibsen books again?

It is well to think about just what this idea means, that the country may not be taken by surprise when the crisis comes; for a labor dispute over questions of money is one thing, and a general suspension of labor because there is such a dispute in some industry is quite another thing.

The latter condition is so different that it is hard to distinguish it from civil war. And if civil war is to become a condition to be reckoned with at any time, we all need to make various arrangements for reckoning with it.

Washington, D. C.—Undoubtedly the most philanthropic scheme ever launched in the history of the world was set on foot when Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire introduced a bill in the United States senate for the incorporation of the "Rockefeller Foundation." It is estimated that the bill will eventually give $500,000,000 to this "good trust."

The incorporators are John D. Rockefeller, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Frederick T. Gates, Starr J. Murphy, Charles O. Heydt. This body may be increased up to 25.

The scheme of the "Rockefeller Foundation" is world embracing and allows for philanthropic work along every line in every country, as well as for the promotion of education and for scientific research.

It is expected that a magnificent building will be erected in this city to house the home offices of this corporation.

New Tailored Suits
at $15 to $25

We have begun the most extraordinary campaign in tailored suits ever attempted.

Several months ago we entered into arrangements with several makers upon a very extensive scale, with a view of giving to the women of Janesville a much higher grade of tailoring in suits and a greater variety of them at $15.00 to $25.00 than was ever sold before at this store—suits that would be so far superior in every way to what any one else had to offer that there would be no chance for comparison. How successful we have been in carrying out our plans will best be seen from the extraordinary showing of suits we make this season.

There are many others at all prices, higher and lower, but the $20 priced garments will be featured.

The coats are cut 30 and 32 inches long, the approved spring length, and some are made severely plain, others with some dainty touch of fancy trimming at collar and cuff. The skirts all show some new interpretation of the plaited model.

Beautiful French serges, fancy worsteds and the popular shepherd check fabrics are used in the making and new light colors such as tan, rose, violet, new blues, as well as navy and black, are shown in wonderful variety. They have satin or peau de cygne linings.

We will also make a feature of tailored suits for misses and small women, showing special models for each, at $15.

New Spring Coats, $10 and $25

These splendid coats are made in the popular full length styles in order to completely cover and protect the frocks worn under them. One style is of tan covert with the fashionable long rever. Another is made of a superior quality of wide wale serge, with trimmed collar. Besides these two many other pretty styles are shown at this price in ensembles and serges, and all specially priced at $10 to $25.

New Military Capes

A broadcloth in black, blue, plum and other colors, full circular sweep and full length, trimmed with brass buttons and gold braid, also with Persian collars. Price range $8.00 to $10.50.

A Delicious New After Dinner Confection

We have recently put out something new—something entirely different in the candy line.

This new confection consists of mint candy, after-dinner size, covered with a coating of sweet chocolate.

The two form an excellent combination, making a candy that is a positive delight to the palate.

DUST BLAST CAUSES DEATH

TWO DEAD, 28 HURT IN AMERICAN MAIZE PRODUCTS PLANT.

STARCH POWDER IS CAUSE

Fire Follows Explosion and Wrecked Building Is Buried—Detonation Is Heard Miles Away—Damage to Plant Estimated at $50,000.

Chicago, Mar. 8.—Two men were killed, 28 others injured, two probably fatally, a three-story building in South Chicago, three miles away, wrecked and windows broken in Hammond, Ind., when an explosion of dry starch powder occurred in the American Maize Products Company's plant at 10th St., Ind.

Fire followed the explosion, but companies from South Chicago and Hammond confined the flames to the wrecked building.

Thirteen of the 28 men injured are in the South Chicago hospital. Ten were taken to their homes. Seven men are missing. Five of those have been seen since the explosion, but later disappeared, and the bodies of two, the names not ascertainable, are believed to lie under the debris of the building.

Hurled from Building.
The explosion occurred just before the night shift at the factory arrived, in the dry starchhouse of the sugar refining plant. Thirty men work there. The force of the explosion hurled most of the men clear of the building, but a number were wrecked from under pieces of wreckage. Flashes shot high in the air and bricks and timbers were thrown for rods.

The damage is estimated at $50,000.
The dry starchhouse was a three-story brick building, 100 feet square. It was connected by an aerial passageway with the storage house, one-story high and 200 by 100 feet. This building also was wrecked, but not burned. There are 30 kilns in the dry starch house, and flames from under one of these ignited the powder that lay thick on floors and ledges, and the explosion followed.

MRS. BOTKIN DIES IN PRISON.

Woman Whose Poisoning of Rival Amazed Country Express.

San Francisco, Mar. 8.—Mrs. Cordelia Botkin, serving a life sentence at San Quentin for the murder in 1898 of Mrs. John P. Dunning of Dover, Del., by poisoned chocolate sent through the mails, died at the penitentiary. Mrs. Dunning was the wife of a former San Francisco newspaper man, with whom Mrs. Botkin was infatuated. Dunning died some months ago.

It was on August 12, 1898, that Mrs. Dunning and her children, together with her sister, Mrs. J. D. Deane, all living in Dover, Del., ate of candy sent to Mrs. Dunning from California with the following message:

"With love to yourself and baby, Mrs. C."

Mrs. Dunning died, the children and Mrs. Deane were made ill, but recovered. Then it was discovered that the candy had been poisoned.

LEHIGH RAISES ITS ENGINEERS.

Grants Increase to Drivers—Takes Other Demands Under Advisement.

New York, Mar. 8.—Labor leaders in this city were jubilant when it was announced by the officials of the Lehigh Valley railroad that it had been decided to grant the increase in pay demanded by the engine drivers in the road's employment. The Lehigh is the first railroad in the east to grant the demands for increased pay and shorter hours made by the engine drivers, and it was also announced that the demands which have been made by the conductors, firemen and brakemen are also under consideration.

STEAMER BURNS—LOSS $150,000.

Fireman Is Missing When Ship Manhattan Is Destroyed.

Portland, Me., Mar. 8.—Catching fire from an unknown cause shortly after it had docked upon arrival here from New York, the steamer Manhattan, owned by the Maine Steamship Company, was destroyed. The loss was placed at $150,000. One fireman of the steamer's crew was reported missing, but it is believed he escaped safely.

Religious Association Meets.

Nashville, Tenn., Mar. 8.—Prof. George A. Coe of the Union Theological Seminary, New York, in his annual address as president of the Religious Educational association which is holding its convention here, reviewed the work of the organization since it was started in 1902. He said the most efficient institution for the religious education that has yet appeared is the old-fashioned American family. Prof. Coe declared the responsibility for religious education rests upon the people.

Wolgast Meets Nelson's Rush with Left to Jaw.

The accompanying pictures are the first of the Wolgast-Nelson championship battle to come east. In both the pictures with which Wolgast fought can be noted. In the larger one Nelson is shown in one of his rushes, while the new champion met him and stopped him easily with one of his lefts to the jaw. The crumpling of the fighter is noticeable. In the smaller picture Wolgast has the game old-time champ backed against the ropes on one of his own rushes. The fighter is in a bad position to get in any effective work.

BATTLE CREEK LABOR SITUATION.

Battle Creek, Mich.—The trouble began when a big mass meeting was held to work up sympathy for unionized labor, and at which Organizer Dowd and the speakers brought the laboring men of Battle Creek to a high pitch of excitement. Battle Creek is not as yet unionized, though considerable headway has been made in this in the face of opposition by C. W. Post.

The fight to unionize Battle Creek is not so much of a fight for the principles of the union as it is to defeat C. W. Post in his own stronghold, and at his pet hobby. As a matter of fact the unionizing of Battle Creek manufacturers is attracting but little attention among the manufacturers themselves. The fight in Battle Creek has resolved itself into a newspaper battle between John H. Zuber, editor of the Journal, and the Battle Creek Enquirer, said to be controlled by Mr. Post. Two of the leading business men are Hon. E. C. Nichols, president of the Old National bank and the Nichols & Sheppard Thrashing Machine company, and Charles E. Kolb, president of the Union Steam Power company. Both of these men are strenuously anti-union in their sentiments, but have not bothered themselves to keep their men from organizing if they want to. Mr. Nichols even invited Organizer Clarence E. Dowd to visit his shops and see how the men felt about organizing.

Vinegar Improves Dates.
Knowing that the Arabs use vinegar to improve retarded dates, A. E. Vinson of the Arizona experiment station has tried spraying bunches of the green fruit with acetic acid for 12 or 15 hours, and in three days has produced perfect commercial dates of the best natural flavor. The process may be added by sunbathing or a heat of 110 degrees F. It is anticipated that this process will be of much practical importance, as the dates can be shipped while green and hard, and ripened after reaching their destination. Other chemicals had a ripening effect, the flavor being impaired by some.

DR. HYDE IS JAILED; JUDGE REFUSES BAIL

Physician Charged with Murder of Three Persons and Attempt on Eight Others.

Kansas, City, Mo., Mar. 8.—Dr. H. C. Hyde, indicted on 12 counts in connection with the Swappa mystery spent last night in the county jail. Judge Ralph S. Latashaw of the criminal court decided he would not hear the physician's application for bail until to-day and ordered him committed until that time.

He was placed in the hospital ward by Marshal Joel Maynes, and seemed very contented, and not a bit ill at ease.

Prosecutor Conkling announced that he had not decided which counts he would try first, but that it probably would be the Thomas H. Swappa case.

The cases were all set for April 11, when the attorneys for both the state and the defense declared they wished an early trial.

GOOD ROADS MOVEMENT STARTS.

Iowa Governor's Call for Meeting Responded to By 5,000 Delegates.

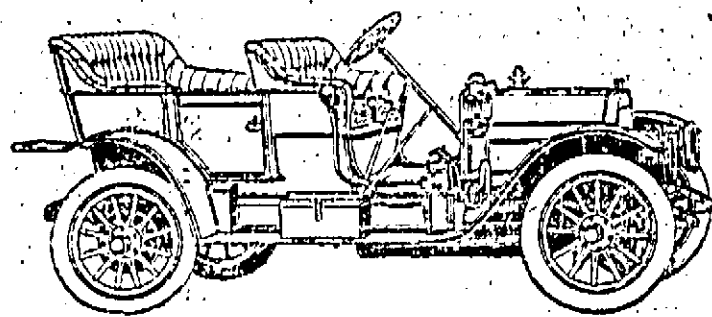

Des Moines, Ia., Mar. 8.—In response to a call recently sent out by Gov. Carroll, nearly 5,000 advocates of good roads have assembled here for a convention that will last through tomorrow. About 2,000 of these men are members of the State Threshers' association, which also is in session here. The delegates to the good roads meeting come from every commercial club, farmers' institute, every city of the first, or second class and from every township. It is the hope of Gov. Carroll that the convention will recommend to the legislature which meets next winter such legislation as will make possible better treatment of the state's highways.

The governor will be the chief speaker at this evening's session, and tomorrow the speakers will include John W. Foster of Guthrie Center, Col. W. E. Baker of Council Bluffs and Attorney General Byers.

THE SUGAR FRUITS.

Figs are, next to prunes, the best of the sugar fruits, but they are seldom safe to eat because so often spoiled by long ex-posure to the air, at least in warm weather. Fresh figs contain every element of nutrition easily assimilated and the seeds aid in elimination much as the waste in coarse bread does.Dates also contain everything needed by brain and body, though a little deficient in albumen. The Bedouin Arab can run all day by the side of an Arabian horse on dates only.
Many of the hard-working stockmen on the Red sea and Mediterranean vessels eat only dates. No race excels the Arab in physical development, and their powers commonly displayed in the circus are to be credited to the fine heredity from their date-eating progenitors, although the circus Arab usually embraces the habits of American civilization, not knowing that dates and hard bread are better than beef and rolls.

Dr. T. L. Harrington of Milwaukee Was Illuminating and Helpful.
Under the auspices of Carroll Council No. 590, Knights of Columbus, a timely and helpful lecture on "The Social Evil" was delivered by Dr. T.
L. Harrington of Milwaukee at the lodges rooms last evening. The gross negligence of fathers in permitting their children to learn the sins of the world from strangers and kindred topics were touched upon stirring statistics of the cost to human integrity and happiness and while devotion and ruin that follow in the wake of these sins. The character of this show and entertainments given at some of the five cent theatres was elected as one of the potent factors in the corruption of the youth of the land and the undermining of the moral standards of the race. The speaker was introduced by William H.
Dougherty and a number of questions were asked and answered at the conclusion of his illuminating address.
Musical selections were rendered by

DAINTY FOOD.

Turns Pale Checks to Pink.

Our best physicians of the present day seek to cure patients by the use of food, rather than heavy drugs, and this is the true method, for all physicians agree that only from food can the body be rebuilt.Many people fail to give their physicians credit, for after living on poorly selected, or badly cooked food for a long time, perhaps, and when their ailments become chronic, they expect the Doctor, with some magnetic potency, to instantly rebuild them.This is not possible. The only true method is to turn as quickly as can be, from poor food to good. A young lady over in Ohio says:"I was variously treated for my nervous, muscular, lungs, etc., but none of the treatments gave me relief."About a year ago my appetite failed completely and I began to have stinking spells similar to fainting, then I took all manner of tonics and stimulants, but they were of no effect. I had been brought to quit drinking coffee and taking Postum in its place, and gradually began to get a little better."Someone suggested that if I found Postum so beneficial I had better use Grape-Nuts food, as they were both the children of one brain. I commenced on Grape-Nuts food for breakfast, having Postum with it. I found the food so dainty, delicious, and appetizing that I always looked forward to breakfast with pleasure."Shortly after commencing this diet, the stinking pain in my side was greatly relieved, and now, a year later, it has gone entirely, also the sick-ing spells; in fact, my pale cheeks have changed to pink, I have gained back more than twenty pounds in weight, and am thoroughly well in every way."Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in place. "There's a Reason."Ever read the above letter? A new one appeared from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.DRIVEWAY AT MONROE ELEVATOR COLLAPSEDWeight of Load of Corn Was Too Great—Neither Horse Nor Driver
or Buggy Injured.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Monroe, Wis., March 8.—The driveway at the grain elevator of the Monroe Lumber & Fuel Company collapsed from the weight of a team and a load of corn, taking one horse with it as it went. The other horse went backward with the wagon and driver, saving the incline. John Oswald was driving the team and was unhurt.
The horse that went down with the wreckage landed on its four feet and only received a few scratches. The other horse was uninjured and is back in the service of the company. The bridge is about twenty feet high and might have caused considerable damage to the team and driver, had the outcome not been so singularly lucky.

Administrator's Petition

Judge J. H. Simpson, probate, of Lafayette county, yesterday heard the petition of Fridolin Humer as administrator of the estate of the late Joseph Humer and Anna Humer.
The appointment of Mr. Humer as administrator was strongly opposed by the creditors, and for this reason Judge Simpson appointed G. T. Hodges, an outside party, concluding that it was to the best interest of all parties concerned.A. E. Hart has received the news of the death of his brother-in-law, Louis Hurt, at his home at Cass Lake, Minn., which occurred on March 1. Mr. Hurt lived for many years near Albany.F. W. Wottonogel, has disposed of his grocery business on the west side of the square to Edward Becker and John Shure, who have moved the stock and taken possession of the store. The new firm will go under the name of Becker & Shure. The new proprietors are well known, are men of integrity and energy. Mr.
Wottonogel will now retire from business.

No License Campaign.

Capt. Jacob H. Hoffkeller, of Hurdell, Ill., will begin a two weeks campaign against license this evening in the Methodist church. It is evident there will be a red hot campaign as the temperance workers are getting busy all over the city. Tomorrow evening and Thursday evening the meetings will be held in the armory.

Adjourn Gambling Case

The hearing of Oscar Schroeder, charged with running a gambling house, was again adjourned to Monday, March 14, when it came up before Police Justice Baltzer yesterday.
J. L. Sherron, defending Schroeder, and Attorney Douglas, for the city,
were otherwise engaged and agreed to adjournment. The two other parties to the hearing, who were arrested with Schroeder, changed their plea of not guilty to guilty, and were each fined $100 and costs, the low fine being given on recommendation of Marshall Blunt, the complaining witness, who desired not to make the fine heavy, but to make the arrest an object lesson to would-be gamblers.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional treatment. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube.
When this tube is inflamed you have a running ear, or a perfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; this coming out of the ear is called catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh)

The LITTLE BROWN JUG at KILDARE

By MEREDITH NICHOLSON

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTER

"I guess that will bring him running," said Ardmore, calling a servant and ordering the message dispatched immediately.

Before luncheon a message was received from Gillingwater, to this effect:

Gillingwater, Ardmore, N. C.

On route with our entire available force in the field, I am riding ahead with all speed, and will report at Ardmore at nine o'clock. Is full military dress required?

Gillingwater, Adjutant-General.

"Isn't that just like Rutherford? He's afraid he won't be dressed enough; but if he knew that the South Carolina troops might shoot holes in his uniform he wouldn't be due here for a couple of weeks. Instead of at nine o'clock," and Jerry laughed merrily.

They debated more seriously this telegram from Collins at Raleigh sent the previous evening:

Can't maintain this bluff much longer. Given the friendly newspapers are growing suspicious. Also credit jeopardized by disappearance of Treasurer Foster. Killings of Bronx Loan and Trust, here in a great way over hand matter. Do you know governor's whereabouts?

"Things are certainly growing more exciting," was Ardmore's comment. "I suppose even a gifted liar like Collins can't muzzle the press forever."

"You can't go on fooling all North Carolina all the time, either," said Jerry. "And I suppose when papa gets tired of being scared he will turn up in Raleigh and tell some plausible story about where he has been and what has happened. When it comes to being plausible no one can touch papa."

"Maybe he's dead," suggested Ardmore gloomily.

"That's a real inspiration on your part, Mr. Ardmore; and it's very sweet of you to mention it, but I have no idea that any harm has come to papa. It's too much trouble to get elected governor, without dying in office, and besides, papa is none too friendly with the Montague governor and would never think of allowing such a person to succeed him. But those bonds seem rather serious and I don't like the idea of your Mr. Killings making a fuss at Raleigh."

"That will be all right," remarked Ardmore, blotting the last of a number of telegrams which he had been writing, and pressing a button. "It's much more important for us to get Appleweight into a South Carolina jail; and it's not going to be so easy to do, now that Grisey is working on the other side, and angry at me about that scarlet fever telegram."

"There may be trouble," said Ardmore to his guests as they sat at luncheon. "But I should hate to have it said that my guests could not be taken care of here perfectly. I beg that you will all remain."

The luncheon was interrupted by the arrival of a summons for Ardmore, who hurriedly left the table.

Big Paul awaited him below, mounted and holding a log horse.

"There's a line of the South Carolina militia crawling through the woods toward Raccoon creek. They insist that it's a practice skirmish and that they've come over here because the landscape is naturally adapted to their purposes."

"It's awfully nice of them to like my scenery. You'd better send your best man out to meet Col. Gillingwater of the North Carolina militia, and tell him to march all his troops into the estate by the north gates, and to be in a hurry. Tell him—tell him Gov. Dangleford is anxious to have

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may be neglected, but your kidneys must be kept in good condition, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fall to do its duty.

If you are sick or feel badly, begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its great merit.

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable health-restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best.

Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

The man hesitated, flung up his head defiantly, then moved slowly forward. The flush in his face had deepened and his eyes flashed angrily; but Ardmore, his cap on the back of his head, himself presented a figure so severe, so eloquent of righteous indignation, that the stranger tamely obeyed him.

"We will cross the creek right here," he ordered; "it's a pretty thing there from that boulder—there, that was built! Now right along there over the log—see the trail? Good!"

It was warm and the captive was perspiring freely. He moved along docilely, and finding that he manifested no inclination to bolt, Ardmore dropped the revolver to his side, but with his finger on the trigger.

They soon reached a field where some laborers were at work, and Ardmore called them to him for instructions.

"Boys, this is one of the timber thieves; put him in that corncrib until I come back for him. The nights are warm; the sky is perfectly clear; and you will kindly see that he does not look for food."

Two of the men jumped forward and seized Ardmore's prisoner, who now broke forth in a torrent of wrath, struggling vigorously in the hands of the sturdy fellows who had laid violent hands on him.

"That's right, boys; that's right; easy there! Now in he goes!"

A series of corncribs fringed the field, and into one of these, from which half the corn had been removed, the prisoner was thrust sprawling upon the yellow ears, and when he rose and flung himself round, the door of the corncrib slammed in his face. He followed with rage now, seeing that his imprisonment was a serious matter, and that it seemed likely to be prolonged indefinitely.

"They always told me you were a fool," he howled, "but I didn't know that anything as crazy as you are was loose in the world."

"Thank you. The head of your gang is much more polite. He's sitting on his case of Chateau Bluet in my wine cellar, playing solitaire."

"Apprehend in your wine cellar?" howled the captive in astonishment. "Certainly. I was afraid to lock him in a room with bath for fear it might give him hydrophobia; but he's perfectly content in the wine cellar."

"What are you going to do with him?"

Abundance of Titanium.

It is rather surprising to consider that only eight or nine elements are more abundant than titanium. Chemists of the United States geological survey find that it makes up about two-fifths of one per cent. of the earth's crust, and exceeds in quantity all other heavy metals together, except iron. The proportion of iron is about five per cent. The bulk of the crust, it will be remembered, is non-metallic, 50 per cent. being oxygen and 25 per cent. silicon.
